

I want to show y'all something, probably one of the coolest damn things I've ever seen in my entire life. I'm telling you right now, government, people are pissed, but you guys need to watch. They broke the line, guys. People are going.

This isn't a bad thing, and you can't be scared. This is what you do. Otherwise you end up as Communist little peasants, in little societies where you have no ability, no voice, no vote. You're basically slaves.

But this is what happens when the people are pissed and when they rise up. So you know what, guys? It's pretty amazing. You guys should enjoy it. They broke the barrier, they got up there, they may end up inside before it's all said and done, and that's

Here's your silent majority, folks. Oh and just for the record, they did block a giant truck coming down from the other end of the mall. So this is the ones that got through. But there's still another line that's forced down there, they've got traffic, they've got

But these are your patriots that got through.
We'll see what's happening. The storm.
The storm arrived. It's pretty balmy and blistery here in D.C., but the storm showed up.

Over the top, they've occupied both sides
now, oh no, think
we're gonna hang 'til
the 20th or what?
Don't know.

Here you go, just so you can see, they had barricades up.
Keeping us away

